

Palatine, Ill. Family Law Attorney Launches $2,500 in Scholarships for College-Bound Chicagoland

Nicholas W. Richardson of the Law Office of Nicholas W. Richardson, P.C., aims to help local families pay for college by establishing his own scholarship program.

Palatine, Ill. (PRWEB) February 20, 2014 -- This week, the Inaugural Scholarships for College-Bound Chicagoland Powered by the Law Office of Nicholas W. Richardson, P.C., were announced to help local graduating high school seniors pay for their advanced education, including college, nursing, business, trade, technical training and other similar programs.

The awards program includes four scholarships: one Grand-Prize Scholarship worth $1,300; one First Runner-Up worth $700; and two Honorable Mentions valued at $250 each. Full details are available at <http://www.nickrichardsonlaw.com/scholarship-program>.

“Of the hundreds of families I’ve worked with in Chicago’s Northwest Suburbs, I know most are concerned about how or if they can help their kids with college,” says Family Law Attorney Nicholas W. Richardson. “Given my area of focus, I figured giving back through a scholarship program made sense.”

Open to high school seniors residing in Cook, DuPage, Kane, Lake and McHenry counties, the Inaugural Scholarships for College-Bound Chicagoland Powered by the Law Office of Nicholas W. Richardson, P.C., asks students to submit a 500-word essay on how the Bill of Rights affects their daily lives. The first 50 entrants will receive a copy of College PaperBuddy, <http://www.collegepaperbuddy.com/>.

“In today’s tech-focused world, the craft of writing sometimes is overlooked,” says Attorney Richardson, who has been in practice for 10 years. “But being able to draft a well-written article, email or business letter is critical in today’s workplaces and those of tomorrow. College PaperBuddy provides practical tips to help students earn better grades in a quick, friendly format and makes for a perfect giveaway for my scholarship program.”

Attorney Richardson is grateful for all the support he’s received since opening his own law office in 2009. “Giving back is important to me personally just as the law is to me professionally,” he adds. “Combining the two makes sense. As an undergraduate journalism major, I spent a lot of time writing, and as an attorney, I’m constantly writing.”

All essays must be submitted through this entry form, <http://www.nickrichardsonlaw.com/scholarship-program/scholarship-application>, where complete rules are also available. All submissions must be received by April 1, 2014, and winners will be notified by email by Tuesday, April 22. Winners will also be mentioned on the Law Office’s Facebook page, and their essays posted here. Complete rules are available on the Scholarship Intake Form. Unfortunately, immediate family members of current clients are ineligible.

###

About the Law Office of Nicholas W. Richardson, P.C.

Based in Palatine, Ill., at his namesake law office, Attorney Richardson helps families throughout Chicago’s Northwest Suburbs navigate numerous family law-related matters every day. His direct, straightforward approach resonates with his clients. Since his admission to the Bar of Illinois in 2004, Attorney Richardson has supported efforts within his community to help fight hunger and provide assistance to those in need. For more information, visit <http://www.nickrichardsonlaw.com/scholarship-program>.

About College PaperBuddy

College PaperBuddy (CPB) is the ultimate guide for writing research papers. It clearly explains and illustrates all required parts of writing college research papers—it replaces academic theories and jargon with useful and practical information. Students and instructors can sign up for CPB's free monthly newsletter at <http://www.collegepaperbuddy.com>. The paperback and Kindle versions of the CPB book are available on Amazon.

Contact Information

Ashley Williams

Law Office of Nicholas W. Richardson, P.C.

<http://www.nickrichardsonlaw.com/scholarship-program>

+1 (773) 787-3067

Online Web 2.0 Version

You can read the online version of this press release here.